Your medication reconciliation checklist.

Discover the advantages of medication reconciliation routines that are part of Iatric Systems Patient Discharge Instructions (PDI) solution.

Reconciling medications and ensuring their accuracy is vital to patient safety and the elimination of medication errors. Providers need a solution that will allow them to perform efficient, thorough medication reconciliation during CPOE and across the continuum of care — from admission through discharge and upon transfers.

If you are interested in meeting Meaningful Use Objectives and increasing physician adoption of IT, this checklist is for you. It lists the features that are most important for satisfying providers. Use the last column to evaluate and compare medication reconciliation software systems.

Features	Iatric Systems PDI	Other system
Solution presents active and home medications side-by-side on one screen, which Joint Commission and Accreditation Canada consider best practice.	✓
Solution places related medications next to each other for easy viewing.	✓
Solution sorts medications by drug class (by heading or specific drug class).	✓
Solution provides a history of the patient's medications, allowing providers to see current medications and doses, and easily compare those to what they were during a previous visit, at home, upon admission, and at prior transfers of care.	✓
Solution allows providers to take multiple actions from one screen — continue home medications, e-prescribe, generate printed prescriptions, note OTC medications, and note medications that should be excluded.	✓
Solution accommodates customization (last dose date and time, tapering doses, comments from the patient about how medication makes the patient feel, and other custom fields) which can be easily viewed during the medication reconciliation process.	✓
Solution clearly alerts providers to therapeutic substitutions, visually, with color.	✓
For recurring accounts, solution allows providers to reconcile medications by revisit date.	✓

If you would like to provide your physicians with the highest standard in medication reconciliation and all of the features listed above, we invite you to discover Iatric Systems medication reconciliation routines. Please contact us using the information below.
